ANGKOR WAT

Angkor Wat, the most famous and spectacular monument in the city of Angkor, is a symbol of power of the greatest empire in the world. It evokes a deep sense of humility and instant fascination in the viewer.

It has become the symbol of Cambodia, appearing on its national flag today.

Built by Suryavarman II between 1113 and 1150, the 'Sacred Abode of Vishnu' was dedicated to the deity of second Trimurti, to which Suryavarman was identified.

The temple is revered and admired for the grandeur and harmony of its architecture. Thanks to its beauty and size, experts recognized it as the eighth wonder of the world. It has become a well-known UNESCO World Heritage Site.

BAYON

The Bayon is the central temple of the ancient city of Angkor Thom, the capital of the Khmer kings in the early thirteenth century.

This is the last of the "mountain-temple" of Angkor, built by Jayavarman VII.

The interior is exceptionally rich, at the peak of Buddhist art. This fantastic building is recognizable by the four faces carved on each of its towers, watching the four cardinal points.

TA PROHM

Known as temple of Brahma ancestor and built by the most famous sovereign khmers, Jayavarman VII, Ta Prohm is located in South of Baray Oriental, one kilometer East of Angkor Thom. Deliberately left in the middle of the jungle, this temple arouses its visitors the same thrill felt by early explorers of the city of Angkor there are more a century.

Decorations and ornaments are contemporary to the temple of Bayon and date from the twelfth century.
