MODULE TOURS – NORTH OF VIETNAM

HALONG BAY ABOARD A TRADITIONAL JUNK (VNMON-01)

2 days / 1 night

A pleasant cruise combining comfort and wonder. A discovery of a peaceful and unusual place.

D1 HANOI–HALONG (L/D)

In the morning, travel by the highway (2.5 hours) to the majestic Halong Bay, listed as a World Heritage Site by UNESCO.

Arrive in Halong by midday and board on a junk for a memorable cruise through the mystical Halong Bay.

Lunch on board the junk.

In the afternoon, navigate between the karts, some of which display extraordinary shapes.

Then a culinary activity on board: a cooking demonstration of the famous Vietnamese egg roll recipe (Nem Ran).

At night, try your hand at squid fishing (depending on the season), an opportunity to learn Vietnamese fishing techniques.

Dinner and overnight on the junk.

D2 HALONG–HANOI (B/Brunch)

After breakfast, the junk resumes its course. During the morning, it crosses the bay and stop to visit a natural cave.

Brunch will be served on board before returning on the coast at around 11h00 and transfer by road to Hanoi.

On the way, stop at the traditional ceramic factory at Phu Lang Village in Bac Ninh for a short walk along the street lined with varieties of workshops of home-made ceramic products.

Note: Any bus over 30 seats cannot enter the village of Phu Lang. This visit will be replaced by Dinh Bang village (on the way to Noi Bai) or Bat Trang village (on the way to Ha Noi).

End of our services

VILLAGES & RICE TERRACES OF THE NORTHWEST REGION (VNMON-21)

5 days / 4 nights

A long-hidden road between Yen Bai, Nghia Lo, Cang Chai Mu and Sapa, offering an authentic circuit to discover the most beautiful rice terraces of Vietnam and interact with the different ethnic groups.

D1 HANOI-YEN BAI (L/D)

Meet the tour guide and driver at your hotel in Hanoi.

Depart at 08h00 to the mountainous Vu Linh region, located in Yen Bai Province.

This province is rarely visited and slowly opening up to tourism. On arrival at Ngoi Tu Village, check-in at a stilt house of the Dao ethnic group. They are usually dressed in white pants. Built using the techniques of the ethnic minority, their traditional houses blend into the charming setting of Ngoi Tu Village and adapts to the pace of the social and cultural life of the people.

Lunch in the village.

In the afternoon, discover the village and its surrounding community, located at the edge of Thac Ba Lake. In partnership with the local minorities (mostly Dao), the interesting part of this visit is based on the conversation and direct interaction between the travelers and the locals.

Enjoy a boat trip around Thac Ba Lake and visit a family in the village of the Dao ethnic group, where people produce the bamboo woven basket-fishing traps.

The rest of the day is devoted to social and cultural activities with the villagers or just relaxation.

Dinner and overnight at the homestay.

D2 YEN BAI – NGHIA LO (B/L/D)

In the morning, after breakfast, depart to Nghia Lo Town. Admire the spectacular mountainous area through different ethnic minority villages and charming countryside – wild nature, forests, rice fields and fresh cool breeze. Some stops are planned along the way to visit the villages of the tribes living by the roadside, such as the H'mong and Thai. Photo stop to capture the breathtaking landscapes - tea plantations, picturesque orchards of peach trees, plum trees, rice fields, villages and other unexpected life scenes.

Lunch at a local restaurant.

Approaching Nghia Lo, detour to Suoi Giang, through a road, ascending uphill. Admire the amazing views over the tea plantations at the foot of the mountain. Arrive at Suoi Giang located at an altitude of 1,300 meters. Visit the ancient tea trees forest with hundreds of tea bushes, which are up to 300 years old. This is a valuable property of the "Flowery H'mong" village of Pang Cang.

Visit the Pang Cang Village, where around 150 families still live in their traditional houses.

Arrive at the basin of Muong Lo, where Nghia Lo Town is located. This is the second largest rice bowl of Northwest Vietnam and the capital of the Thai ethnic group. Here, for 700 years, they cultivate rice and build their traditional houses in ironwood (iroko wood) and bamboo. Continue the road to Sa Ren Village, a charming black Thai village, located in the middle of the rice fields, next to a beautiful brook. Check-in at a Thai stilt house.

Dinner and overnight at the homestay in Nghia Lo.

D3 NGHIA LO-MU CANG CHAI- SHORT TREKKING-EASY LEVEL (B/L/D)

After breakfast at the homestay, stroll around Sa Ren Village to discover this fascinating place. A quick stop at the minority market of Nghia Lo. It is a daily market, where the black Thai women come to sell their own products: vegetables, fish, poultry, etc.

Then, drive to the direction of Mu Cang Chai through Hoang Lien Son chain, the highest mountains of Indochina.

Stop at Tu Le Valley for a short and easy hike, crossing the rice field terraces and hanging bridges to reach the villages of the Thai ethnic groups, who are welcoming and friendly.

Lunch at a local restaurant in Tu Le.

Then, climb up Khau Pha Mountain Pass (Khau Pha means "sky high horn"). The scenery is exceptionally beautiful with cultivated valleys and rice fields terraces on the slopes of the mountains. Stop on top of the pass to admire the panoramic views over the valley: villages, rice fields, streams, etc.

MU CANG CHAI

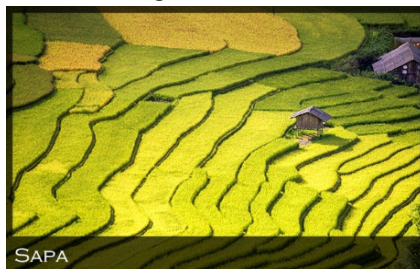

After the pass, detour to the H'mong villages of La Pan Tan and Che Cu Nha to admire the splendid landscapes, an ideal place to capture the best photos of the rice fields terraces in the region of Mu Cang Chai.

Upon arrival at Mu Cang Chai, check-in at the homestay in the village of the White Thai, the only Thai village in the area of Mu Cang Chai, which is populated mainly by the H'mong ethnic group.

Mu Cang Chai is considered a unique paradise and one of the best places in Vietnam to take pictures of the sceneries. Dinner and overnight at the homestay in Mu Cang Chai.

D4 MU CANG CHAI-SAPA- 3 HOURS TREKKING – MEDIUM LEVEL (B/L/D)

After breakfast at the homestay, depart to Sapa. On the way, stop at the minority villages of the H'mong and White Thai. Then resume the journey to Tram Ton Pass, the highest pass in Vietnam with an altitude of 2,047 meters. If the weather is good, the panoramic view over the valleys is spectacular. Stop at the magnificent Silver Waterfall (Thac Bac) before reaching Sa Pa.

SAPA

Lunch in Sapa.

Then, check-in at the hotel in Sapa.

In the afternoon, depart for a hike through the Black H'mong villages of Hau Thao and Sa Seng. These villages are still authentic and isolated.

Return to Sapa. Explore Sapa: visit a catholic church with a stone belltower, which was built in the 20th century by the French colonizer; the Central Square, a nice place to leisurely walk around or sit to watch young local people hanging out; and the colorful market.

Dinner and overnight at the hotel in Sapa.
